TOWN OF TRUMBULL CONNECTICUT

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE, July 30, 2014

TRUMBULL RECOGNIZED AS ONE OF BEST PLACES FOR HOMEOWNERSHIP IN CONNECTICUT

Trumbull, CT. July 30, 2014 – First Selectman Timothy M. Herbst acknowledged today a consumer advice website that has ranked Trumbull as one of the “Best Places for Homeownership in Connecticut”.

NerdWallet (NerdWallet.com), in a July 25th on-line article, listed Trumbull as the 7th best place for homeownership in the State, among 60 places that were ranked. The site previously recognized Trumbull as one of “The Best Towns for Young Families” in Connecticut, in November 2013.

“This article is just the latest piece of evidence that Trumbull is viewed very favorably by independent sources with no formal ties to the Town. It is similar to the recognition and accolades we have received previously from NerdWallet, CNN Money Magazine, Relocate America, Coldwell Banker and Family Circle Magazine,” said Herbst. “As I’ve said before, this continual positive feedback is a clear indication that we are doing the right things to enhance our quality of life and prepare for an even better future.”

NerdWallet’s “Best Places for Homeownership” ranking was based on the availability of quality homes, the relative affordability of homes, the proximity of economic opportunity, and population trends.

According to Wikipedia, NerdWallet.com is a personal finance and credit card comparison website launched in March 2010. The site writes recommendations on credit cards, personal finance options, discounts, and gas prices. It also reports on credit card industry news and politics while providing financial advice and travel tips.

The site's features include tools for comparing credit cards, online stores, gas prices, interest rates, and credit unions. CNN Money listed NerdWallet in the Top 20 Best Money Sites in 2010. The New York Times Bucks blog recommended NerdWallet to readers in August 2010.
