Re: Lenovo ThinkPad T590 – Engineering Department

The Engineering Department would like to laptops and docking stations for some employees to allow them to quickly react to social distancing or staggered staff assignment scenarios.

Employees have been working with loaner laptops and LogMeIn connections. The loaner laptops are used to connect to the network, then a Remote Desktop Protocol (RDP) connection is used to connect to the computer in the office. This process allowed the Technology Department to issue laptops quickly by not installing software on the laptops.

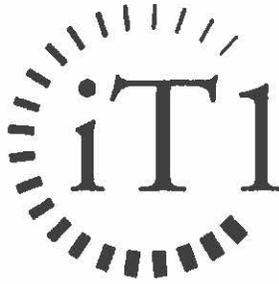

The Engineering Department uses AutoCAD and GIS, which we do not own extra licenses for. Using those graphic-intensive applications over a Remote Desktop Protocol connection is not an ideal scenario and the graphics often lag.

A quote from iT1 has been secured for these laptops. iT1 was the lowest competitive quote on a recent order. Price has been extended to this purchase requisition.
