The existing deck will be demolished. In the same footprint of the demolished area, we will construct a new 339 sqft space on the raised basement. This space will include a bedroom, a closet, and a mudroom, all built over a slab foundation. Above this area on the first floor, we will build a sunroom and a covered deck. The remaining areas on both the basement and first floor will remain unchanged. A new roof will be added above this new construction and will be integrated with the existing roof.

We will be demoing fire damaged items such as sheetrock, insulation, etc., and replacing garage door headers, garage window headers, (3) or so ceiling joists, a few sheets of plywood for second floor subfloor and (1) burnt roof rafter. We will be removing and reinstalling a new set of stairs in existing location (stairs are adjacent to garage). All specifications, framing member sizes etc. to be the same as is currently there. We are also working on a detailed set of architectural plans for the whole house and will be pulling a permit for all changes separately. At this moment I just need to get the garage demo and reframing repairs done ASAP so we can continue with the smoke remediation work.
